The Scheme of a Local Bank for this Colony with Branches at the most important places in China, has been in contemplation for a very long period.

The local and foreign trade in Hongkong and at the open ports in China and Japan has increased so rapidly within the last few years that additional Banking facilities are felt to be required.

The Banks now in China being only branches of Corporations whose head quarters are in England or India, and which were formed chiefly with the view of carrying on exchange operations between those countries and China, are scarcely in a position to deal satisfactorily with the local trade which has become so much more extensive and varied than in former years.

This deficiency the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Company will supply, and will in fact assume the same position with relation to this Colony as the Presidency Banks in India, or the Banks of Australia in their respective localities.

The Establishment of a Mint in Hongkong, providing an adequate supply of proper currency, will render a local Banking medium essential to carry out its operations, and the almost certain disappearance of the existing Compradoric system (so far as money is concerned) will also ensure Banks becoming in course of time the exclusive medium for the transaction of the monetary operations connected with trade.

For the anticipated success of this enterprise there are therefore ample grounds; and the great prosperity which has attended the working of other local associations in China clearly shows that the largest profits are obtained by those Public Companies which possess an interested local body of Proprietors or shareholders whose support naturally forms a chief element of remunerative success.

The Bank will commence operations simultaneously in Hongkong and Shanghai and as the importance of its business at the latter place must be very great, it is intended to establish a local Board of Directors there for more effectually meeting the work. As circumstances render it advisable the Bank will establish Branches at other places.

In the distribution of Shares Hongkong and Shanghai will equally participate. Shares will also be reserved for the other ports in China and Japan and for persons residing elsewhere, who are directly interested in the China Trade.

Applications for Shares must be addressed until further notice, to the Provisional Committee, care of NOTICE.

THE undersigned have the pleasure to inform the residents of Hongkong that they have taken the apartment situated above their Auction Room formerly occupied by Mr. A. L. ADAMSO, for the purpose of carrying on the business of a General Store, and will have the opportunity of offering many advantages which are foreign to houses in the same business here—viz:

Firstly.—The prices of all classes of Goods disposed of in the store will be at a very little advance on the wholesale prices charged by Merchants in this Colony.

Secondly.—There will be a very large assortment of wares of a varied nature, so as to encompass a trade that must be accommodating to the public at large and accessable to every denomination.

Thirdly.—Every article will be figured with the actual selling price, and those who will kindly visit the store will be able to judge for themselves what articles will be suitable to them, likewise prices dispensing with the trouble of making any inquiries. Wholesale customers will be treated as liberally as if they were doing business direct with the Merchants.

To accomplish the above we have been kindly favored by the support of several of the Merchants here who have proffered to supply them with goods to sell on Commission, on same terms as if sent in for Auction, and trust that others when they are acquainted with the arrangements will lend their aid to the successful carrying out of the above project. All Goods suitable for a store intrusted to our care will be exposed for sale charging the usual Commission, or as per agreement. The following is a list of Goods already received.

WINES, BEER, AND SPIRITS.

Sherry, a good Wine $6 per dozen.
Champagne, equal to any in the Colony, $11 per dozen.

N.B. There is very little genuine Guinness Stout in this Colony and most of that recently in the market is a fictitious article.

We beg to draw attention to Guinness' label which has a registered number, so that every bottle bearing his name should have a number on it, otherwise it is counterfeit.

THIS Company has been formed for the purpose of purchasing a site in the Colony of Hongkong for Docks and constructing Docks and erecting suitable Premises thereon for carrying on the Business of Building or Docking and Repairing Steamers and Sailing Vessels, and for the purchase of the Docks now owned and carried on at Whampoa by Messrs. T. HUNT & Co. with the Appurtenances Plant and Good-will of the Docking Business of that Firm.

It is proposed to register, the Company as one of Limited Liability either under the Imperial Act or under any Ordinance which the local Legislature may pass enabling local Companies to do so, the property of the Company in the meantime being vested in the Trustees, and the Deed of Settlement of the Company, now in course of preparation, is being framed in accordance with the intention.

The very considerable increase in the number of Vessels employed in what may be termed local trade, or in voyages that either originate or terminate, at Hongkong, in addition to the great quantity of tonnage visiting the Port from all quarters of the World, afford ample scope for the commercial operations of Dock Companies; in addition to these, which are already in existence.

Application has been made to Her Majesty's Government with reference to obtaining a site for the proposed Docks in the Colony, and the project has been favourably entertained, steps being in progress to facilitate this object, the necessary preliminary investigations as to the suitable character of the proposed site having been conducted and satisfactorily reported upon, by Mr. S. B. RAWLINSON.

Liberal support has been promised to the undertaking which it is contemplated must necessarily prove a very remunerative one.

Further applications for Shares can till further notice be addressed to the Undersigned from whom forms of application and all particulars can be obtained.

BI-MONTHLY SUMMARY.

(From China Overland Trade Report.)

The last number of this Report was issued under date of 31st. ulto. for transmission per Behrazee, despatched the day following. The intelligence then communicated may be thus briefly summarised.

The rapid spread of anarchy throughout the Empire of China, and the moribund action of the Imperial government, were descanted upon. Hankow was menaced by the Nienfei, or Northern banditti. At Kawkiang a gang of burglars had assaulted and rifled the Custom house. At Shanghai, although rumors of coming troubles were rife, the Futai was disbanding his disciplined troops, and appeared bent on embroiling himself with foreign powers. The vicinity of Ningpo teemed with rebellion and disaffection, and yet all military precautions were neglected. At Amoy a body of Taiping rebels had appeared and had taken the city of Changchow, a short distance off. A complete panic existed at Amoy, the Mandarins being the most helpless and alarmed members of the community. The people looked as a matter of course, to the British gun boats hurriedly dispatched to that port, as their natural protectors, but were moving their valuables on board ship notwithstanding. At Swatow three pirate boats penetrated the foreign settlement, by night, and after helping themselves to full and complete cargoes of that bulky article, Bean Cake, made off up the river, but being pursued by three Europeans had to abandon their boats. The Canton Province was represented to be invaded in the North by the Taipings, and in the South Westwas reduced to the last state of anarchy by faction fights. The West Coast swarmed with pirates, and although the Imperial Government were totally unable to cope with the rovers, a British Gun boat with scarcely twenty effective hands had lately won a signal victory over them, without sustaining either loss or injury.

The Chung Wang, the Taiping generalissimo, it appeared, had really been captured at Nanking, and was subsequently decapitated. The rebellion was continued under the Tien Wang's son, and still partook of all that profanity and spurious Christianity which had heretofore made it so repulsive.

At Japan, affairs had taken a favorable turn, owing to the success of the allied fleet in the Straits of Shimonoseki. On the return of the Squadron to the bay of Yedo, negociations had been set on foot between the Ministers of the Treaty Powers, and the Government of the Tycoon, which specially evinced in the removal of trade restrictions. The British Minister had successfully carried out his policy of strengthening the hands of the Tycoon, inasmuch as the decree, which released the Daimios from a compulsory residence at Yedo, had been rescinded. The Prince of Nagato had sued for time to pay the indemnity promised to the allied Admirals in consideration of the suspension of hostilities.

The events of the fortnight, in so far as China is concerned, have tended materially to confirm the opinions given in last Report. There is no doubt whatever that foreign relations with the Imperial cabinet are in a very unsatisfactory state, especially with Great Britain. The anti-foreign party are just as repellent and as vindictive as ever, and being on the ascendant are only restrained from carrying out their measures by the presence of the force in Japan. It will shortly appear very manifest that the opportunity to enforce a system of contribution and self protection on the Imperial government was lost by the overzeal displayed in positively encumbering them with help whenever occasion seemed to require. Besides which, had a becoming consideration been stipulated for every service rendered, it is in the nature of the Chinese to value it the more. For instance, the taking of Soochow was entirely owing to the action of General Brown, the British Commander in chief on this station, who, provided cannon and ammunition, kept open the communications, and by stretching the area of the radius into a strategical circuit, so placed his troops as to form a sure base for Imperial operations. Soochow was, before the Taipings took it, the first commercial and manufacturing city in the Empire; and from its advantageous geographical position will doubtless ultimately become so again. The vast service rendered by General Brown in recovering this city might surely have been requited by the concession of the right of foreigners to visit it for purposes of trade under suitable restrictions. Instead of that however, as stated in the last issue of this Report, those foreigners in attempting to visit the city were maltreated by the villagers for a very small provocation, and refused the protection by the Mandarins which the treaties provide for, until fatal results were the consequence under circumstances of great inhumanity.

At Shanghai confidence is by no means restored in the minds of either natives or foreigners. There are no tangible fears, but the Mandarin rule is so wretched, as to give rise to the conviction that it cannot last long.

Affairs at Ningpo are in a bad state. The Province of Chekiang, of which it is the principal port, has for many years abounded with pirates and marauders, foreign and native—and is the very hothed of that great evil "rowdyism." Numbers of bad characters, rife for mischief, now resort there, and it may really be said, that apart from the danger of the Taipings, the province teems with marauders. The Footit's maid, if not only resource, consists of the British and French contingents. The first he will disband at the end of the present month—the other it is believed at the end of the year. These contingents, although they have done vast service, do not consist of men who can be relied on, and the probability is that they will swell the ranks of the disaffected, and that the whole province will shortly be involved in all the calamities of anarchy.

As for the Taipings who, as stated in last Report, had taken the district city of Chang-chow-foo, situated about twenty five miles from Amoy,—no reliable intelligence has even yet been obtained. That they have captured Chang-chow-foo is certain, and that all communication between that port and Amoy is stopped, is equally so. At Foochow it was stated that a body of rebels had taken Wanchow, a port of some capacity North of Foochow. A place called Tong-san, a little North of Swatow, has, with all the neighbouring villages, fallen into the hands of a body of insurgents. Whether all these hordes are Taipings cannot be stated with any degree of certainty; but as the intention of that party of insurgents was well known to be the invasion of the Province of Fuhkien, the probability is that all are of that body. The possession of the port of Wanchow may prove a serious matter, as it will enable the Taipings to obtain arms and ammunition.

The invaders of the Canton province are certainly Taipings. Communication with the districts which they occupy is cut off so that no reliable intelligence can be obtained regarding them. It is known however that they assume a political status, insist on the destruction of idols, and are by no means oppressive towards the people. They are encamped on the borders of the provinces of Kwantung and Kwangsi, and are supposed to be recruiting their ranks preparatory to an attack on Canton.

The British authorities have done little regarding these matters. In fact, they affect to treat the Amoy affair as a local disturbance. Men of war as they pass up the Coast, look in, and then resume their passage North; the few gun boats in the neighbourhood being relied on for the protection of the place.

Regarding commercial matters—the panic in the Cotton Market still continues—the Tea markets have been sustained. A large business has been done in Silk. Rice still maintains its value, tending to relieve the shipping interest which is rather prostrated by the Cotton panic. The Import markets have been quite as good as could have been expected, seeing the fall in Raw Cotton.

The intelligence from Japan is highly favourable, and it would really appear as though existing difficulties were in a fair way of being finally solved and adjusted. The demonstration produced by the Shimonoseki fight had a most salutary effect, and upon the return of the fleet to Yokohama, negociations were immediately opened with the Government of the Tycoon on such a footing as admitted of no procrastination nor trifling. As stated in last report, the obstructions to trade were removed, and a new order of things initiated.

The particulars of the present posture of affairs have not been allowed to transpire, but sufficient is known of the nature of the arrangement come to, to form tolerably reliable conclusions as to the result. Sir Rutherford Alcock has displayed singular firmness, patience, tact and consistency. It would seem that he had made up his mind, to support the authority of the Tycoon under all circumstances, that the finances of war might be averted—to keep the large force placed at his disposal to punish such Daimios as might set the treaties at defiance—and to yield the treaty right of the opening of additional ports beyond those already open, for certain valid considerations.

It was difficult to support the Tycoon, whilst the government of that potentate persistently displayed mal fides and treachery—it was difficult to keep so large a force in a state of efficiency and inaction without resorting to vain threats, or disastrous conflicts; and it was more difficult still to induce all the treaty powers to yield the point of the open ports; it being abundantly clear that should one foreign Minister refuse, the idea would have to be abandoned, under the favored nation clause.

All these great difficulties the British minister would appear to have surmounted. The opening of more ports could not be effected without involving the certainty of a disastrous war, and it were far better that conditions should be obtained which would free the commerce of the ports already open from all restrictions, than that the other ports should be opened to the same objectionable system of trade as has hitherto prevailed. So that after all, Sir Rutherford's great concession involved within itself insuperable difficulties—and although he doubtless made a great favor of it, he really conceded nothing.

But matters had come to that pass, when the Mikado would probably be selected, as Satsuma and Nagato had already been, for the British force to operate upon. The Japanese must have seen that they could no more contend with the expedition sent to coerce them than they could with the elements—they must have seen by the long delay of the force, by the patience and moderation of the British Minister, that they had to deal with a power stronger and more civilized than themselves—and they must have been induced to settle from sheer conviction of the policy of doing so. Had their national pride been irritated, or an unfortunate conflict taken place, this effect could never have been produced.

The conditions of the settlement are believed to be—A mulct of two millions of dollars, to be on the Prince of Naguto, paid within one year. A mulct of one million of dollars on the Tycoon for his apathy in not bringing Nagato to terms). The waiving (for probably a number of years), of the opening of the ports mentioned in the treaty, beyond those now opened—in consideration of material pecuniary advantages. One is the issue of Itzabees at par—another the enlargement of the foreign settlement of Yokohama,—and no doubt the removal of all those official restrictions which have been so seriously and so justly complained of.

This new Convention is to be signed by the Mikado, and all the Daimios who rule principalities. There appears little doubt of it being carried out, as arrangements are being made to disperse the fleet. The intelligence has given the greatest satisfaction to the mercantile community, for although the opening of new ports was doubtless hoped for, still all knew that it was a question which involved the gravest, the most insuperable difficulties. As the Japanese become used to foreign trade, these difficulties will vanish.

Singular to state, Sir Rutherford Alcock has been called home—but as "His Excellency has continued to add since the recall came, it is believed that Her Majesty's government desire his presence at home with the view of arranging a joint action of the powers which have treaties with Japan, and of deriving the advantage of his views generally.

The P. & O. Str. Nepaul, with the mails from Japan to Shanghai struck an unknown rock about an hour after leaving Yokohama. She returned to port leaky and had to be beached. She had 1,000 bales Silk on board—all but 200 were saved in a sound state, and were sent on with the mails by another steamer without the loss of any time.

At page 9.—will be found a tabular digest of the returns of the Maritime Customs for 1863—to which attention is called. It presents some singular features, which cannot but fail to attract much interest.

PENINSULAR & ORIENTAL STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY.

NOTICE OF REDUCTION OF PASSAGE MONEY.

IN the year 1857 the Directors made a considerable reduction in the Company's rates of Passage Money, which continued in force till 1861.

To that year, owing to the extraordinary rise in the Cost and Freight of Coals, and the enhanced price of all descriptions of Naval Stores, the Directors were reluctantly compelled to return to the rates of Passage Money previously in force. They are now happy to state that a decrease in the price of Coal and other expenses of Steam Navigation enables them to reduce the Company's Passage rates to the undernoted scale, which will take effect from and after the 1st June next, viz:—

From Hongkong to:—

Suez,	$400
Malta,	510
Marseilles,	530
Gibralar,	530
Southampton,	550

Reserved Rates for Single Persons.

Suez,	$929
Malta,	1,020
Marseilles,	1,060
Gibraltar,	1,060
Southampton,	1,100

Reserved Rates for Married Couples.

Suez,	$1,150
Malta,	1,260
Gibraltar,	1,348
Marseilles,	1,348
Southampton,	1,388

The charges for Children are in proportion to the above.

The above rates are exclusive of the amount payable to the Egyptian Transit Administration for conveyance of Passengers through Egypt, viz:—

For First-class Passengers,	$32

Children above three and under ten years, half-fare.

By Order of the Managing Directors,

THOS. SUTHERLAND,
Superintendent.
